Well, there has been quite a bit of local activity amateur radio related of late. A group of locals went up Mt Panorama the other day for a BBQ and some field portable work. Had some good contacts, including with me whilst I am in Antarctica as VK0BP. I am glad there is still fun with field portable.

Additional to that field portable work, a number of locals had some fun with the 80m Tran Tasman last weekend, including Ingrid VK2FLWR. Congrats on your first contest - look forward to hearing you on the air for more.

For more information about some of the Central West Amateur Projects pop Markus VK2SK an email at vk2sk@daisystem.com and he will give you some more details. There is some really great stuff going on - but I won't ruin the surprise ;)
